

The Random Jottings of Donald Jay from Nelson In Pendle.

9th of September 2023.

I would like to ask is what was Nelson Arndale Now Pendle Rise safe for people to shop in.

It was build in the mid 1960s.

Along with the bus station and Car Park that as been pulled down because of concrete cancer it was rooting away,

I be-leave Nelson Arndale Now Pendle Rise is not fit or safe for people to work or shop in because it was built with the same sort of concrete it need surveying by a private company Pendle council needs it surveying to top to bottom urgently.

Subject: Urgent Safety Concerns Regarding Nelson Arndale, Now Pendle Rise

I am writing to bring to your attention some serious concerns regarding the safety of Nelson Arndale, now known as Pendle Rise, in light of its construction in the mid-1960s and recent structural issues.

As you may be aware, the adjacent bus station and car park have already been dismantled due to the presence of concrete cancer, a clear indication of the critical state of the construction materials used. It is alarming to think that the same concrete may have been employed in the construction of Nelson Arndale, now Pendle Rise.

Given these circumstances, it is my firm belief that Nelson Arndale, now Pendle Rise, is not in a condition conducive to ensuring the safety and well-being of both employees and shoppers alike.

It is of paramount importance that an immediate, comprehensive survey be conducted by a reputable private company to assess the extent of the potential risks.

I also implore Pendle Council to take urgent action by commissioning a thorough survey of the entire structure, from top to bottom. Such an evaluation should not only focus on the visible aspects but also delve into the underlying structural integrity of the building.

The safety of those who work and shop in Pendle Rise should never be compromised, and I trust that you share in this sentiment. By taking prompt action, we can ensure that this iconic establishment regains its status as a safe and secure hub for the community.

I sincerely hope that you will consider this matter with the utmost urgency it deserves. Your attention to this concern will not only serve the interests of the public but also demonstrate a steadfast commitment to their well-being.

Thank you for your immediate attention to this pressing issue.

By Donald Jay